General overview of the LLP programme

Decision of the European Parliament and of the Council establishes a Lifelong Learning Programme for Community action in the field of lifelong learning (the Lifelong Learning Programme – LLP). The general objective of the LLP is to contribute through lifelong learning to the development of the Community as an advanced knowledge society, with sustainable economic development, more and better jobs and greater social cohesion, while ensuring good protection of the environment for future generations. In particular, it aims to foster interchange, co-operation and mobility between education and training systems within the Community so that they become a world quality reference.

The Lifelong Learning Programme is established to address the modernisation and adaptation of Member State education and training systems, particularly in the context of the strategic Lisbon goals, and brings European added value directly to individual citizens participating in its mobility and other co-operation actions.

The structure of the LLP is different from its predecessors. It takes the form of an integrated programme composed of four sectoral sub-programmes, a transversal programme targeted on cross-cutting areas, and a programme to support teaching, research and reflection around European integration and key European institutions.

The LLP supports and supplements action taken by Member States, while fully respecting their responsibility for the content of education and training systems and their cultural and linguistic diversity.

The Lifelong Learning Programme will run for 7 years (2007-2013). The total budget for this period is of ... euros.
What is the structure of the programme?

The Lifelong Learning Programme consists of:

- four sectoral sub-programmes focusing on school education (Comenius), higher education (Erasmus), vocational training (Leonardo da Vinci) and adult education (Grundtvig)
- a transversal programme targeted on cross-cutting areas (policy cooperation and innovation in lifelong learning, promotion of language learning; development of innovative ICT, dissemination and exploitation of results)
- a programme to support teaching, research and reflection around European integration and key European institutions (Jean Monnet Programme)

Who does what?

For the management of this programme, the European Commission plans to resort to two forms of externalisation, delegating the management of certain sections of the programme either to National Agencies or to the Education Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency.

It is the task of the European Commission (Directorate General for Education and Culture) to ensure the effective and efficient implementation of the Community actions provided for by the LLP. It is assisted in this by the LLP Committee which comprises representatives of the Member States and is chaired by the Commission.

The operational management of the programme is carried out by the Commission in close cooperation with national authorities, with the assistance of National Agencies (one or more in each of the participating countries) and the Education, Audiovisual & Culture Executive Agency.

The national authorities of the participating countries have established National Agencies (one or more in each participating country) to facilitate the coordinated management of the programme’s actions at national level. The National Agencies play a very important role in the practical implementation of the programme. This is particularly the case in the decentralised actions, in which the National Agencies are responsible for receiving the applications for support, advising the national authorities on the selection of applications (or carrying out this selection on behalf of the national authorities), issuing the successful applicants with contracts, making the payments to grantees and receiving their reports. In addition, the Agencies may give their views on applications for support under some of the centralised Actions, and they perform a number of other important functions across the programme as a whole. These include the dissemination of information, providing assistance in finding suitable project partners, giving guidance and advice on the submission of applications and other matters, monitoring the progress of projects and providing feedback on the way the programme is functioning.

The Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency mission is to implement a number of strands of DG EAC Community funded programmes and actions in the fields of education and training, active citizenship, youth, audiovisual and culture. The programme strands managed by the Agency are all centralised and support technical projects. On the basis of the reference framework established by the Commission, the Agency is responsible for the implementation of the following tasks:

• drawing up calls for proposals
• project selection (in some cases the Commission adopts the selection decision)
• signing project agreements
• financial management:
• monitoring of projects (intermediate reports, final reports)
• communication and information with beneficiaries
• on the spot controls

Submission of proposals
Submission of proposals to the relevant body (National Agencies or European Commission / Executive Agency) according to the chosen action.

Assessment of proposals
The evaluation of proposals will be undertaken by experts according to a number of criteria (established within each Call for Proposals) which will take into account both formal and quality elements.

Selection results
Lists of successful proposals are established. All grant applicants will be notified: successful applicants will receive individual notifications indicating the exact status of their projects. Unsuccessful applicants will also receive feedback on rejection reasons and weaknesses/shortcomings within their application.

Contractualisation phase
Applicants who have been successful in the selection process will receive a grant agreement (contract) from the Commission or the appropriate National Agency, depending on the action concerned. The contract indicates the grant awarded and sets out the financial rules to be applied. Payments are usually made in instalments.

Reporting

Submission of interim report (if applicable)
At the mid of project lifetime, applicants are required to submit an Interim Report where information is provided in relation to both project implementation and expenditure incurred thus far. The report is assessed and only after a successful analysis the second instalment can be done.

Glossary
| Accompanying Measures | Adult education | Means all forms of non-vocational adult learning, whether of a formal, non-formal or informal nature

---

Adult learner | A learner participating in adult education

Award criteria | The award criteria shall be such as to make it possible to assess the quality of the proposals submitted in the light of the objectives and the priorities set

---

Benchmarking | A standardised method for collecting and reporting critical operational data in a way that enables relevant comparison of performances of different organisations or programmes, often with a view to establish good practice

Beneficiary | The beneficiaries are the individuals or organisations (users at any level, intermediaries/multipliers, agents such as associations, regional authorities) benefiting in various ways from the implementation of the projects. In the European programmes they are also often understood as the entities receiving financial grants. (see also: FINAL BENEFICIARY)

---

Bilateral | Involving partners from two Member States

Bologna Process | The Bologna process aims inter alia at making divergent higher education systems converge towards a more transparent system by 2010, based on three cycles: Degree/Bachelor - Master – Doctorate

Call for Proposal | Candidate country status is conferred by the European Council on the basis of an opinion from the European Commission, drawn up following an application for membership by the country concerned. However, candidate country status does not give a right to join the Union automatically. The Commission scrutinises the application in the light of the accession criteria (Copenhagen criteria), while the accession process starts with the European Council decision to open accession negotiations. Depending on their circumstances, candidate countries may be required to institute a reform process in order to bring their legislation into line with the Community acquis and to strengthen their infrastructure and administration if necessary. The accession process is based on the pre-accession strategy, which provides instruments such as financial aid. Accession depends on the progress made by the candidate countries, which is regularly assessed and monitored by the Commission.

Cedefop (European Centre for the Development of Vocational Training) | The purpose of the Centre is to provide assistance to the Commission and, through its scientific and technical activities, to help promote vocational and continuing training at Community level. It enjoys the broadest legal status in all Member States. The non-profit-making Centre is based in Thessaloniki (Greece)

Credit transfer system | Activities designed to ensure that the results of the LLP and its predecessors are appropriately recognised, demonstrated and implemented on a wide scale

Dissemination and exploitation of results | A plan for dissemination and exploitation indicates those activities that are going to be carried out during a project’s lifetime. The plan has to be drafted at the very beginning of a project (often at proposal stage) and must contain activities to be carried out continuously until the project’s end (and possibly afterwards).

---

Eligibility criteria | Eligibility criteria are formal conditions a proposal must respect. Only proposals which meet all the formal eligibility criteria go forward for evaluation
Education & Training 2010 [from EU Glossary]

To facilitate the transition to a knowledge-based society, the Commission is promoting the establishment of strategies for lifelong learning, together with specific activities, with a view to achieving a European area of lifelong learning. This objective is at the heart of the Lisbon strategy, in particular the “Education and training 2010” programme. The Member states have undertaken to develop appropriate strategies by 2006.

Enterprise [from LLP decision]

All undertakings engaged in economic activity in the public or private sector whatever their size, legal status or the economic sector in which they operate, including the social economy.

Equal opportunities [from EU Glossary]

The general principle of equal opportunities contains two key elements: one is the ban on discrimination on grounds of nationality, and the other is equality for men and women. It is intended to apply to all fields, particularly economic, social, cultural and family life.

The Treaty of Amsterdam added a new provision, reinforcing the principle of non-discrimination, which is closely linked to equal opportunities. Under this new provision, the Council has the power to take appropriate action to combat discrimination based on sex, racial or ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age or sexual orientation. Moreover, thanks to its programme to combat discrimination (2001-2006), the European Union has been encouraging and complementing the activities of the Member States to combat all forms of discrimination.

Adopted in December 2000, and due to be incorporated in the European Constitution, which is currently being ratified, the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union includes a chapter entitled "Equality" which sets out the principles of non-discrimination, equality between men and women, and cultural, religious and linguistic diversity. It also covers the rights of the child, the elderly and persons with disabilities.

The Constitution explicitly adds the principles of equality and the ban on discrimination to the values on which the Union is founded. The text identifies them as general provisions that the Union must promote in the definition and implementation of its policies and actions.

Europass [from EU Glossary]

The Europass is a single portfolio enabling citizens to provide proof of their qualifications and skills clearly and easily anywhere in Europe. It comprises five documents designed at European level to improve the transparency of qualifications. Its aim is to facilitate mobility for all those wishing to work or receive training anywhere in Europe.

Eurydice [from EU Glossary]

With a view to increasing and improving cooperation between Member States in the field of education, and to making it easier to draft initiatives at national and Community levels, the EURYDICE network is the main instrument for information on national and Community structures, systems and developments in the field of education. EURYDICE thus serves to highlight both the diversity of education systems and their common trends.

Evaluation [from valorisation glossary]

Evaluation (at project level) is a crucial phase for projects since it allows a review and qualitative and quantitative assessment of: i) the results achieved against the aims (as regards activities/products), with implications for the whole of the grant if results are unacceptable and where results are very poor; ii) the means used to achieve these results in relation to the contractually agreed budget.

Evaluation (at program level) : Evaluation in the Commission is defined as a judgement of interventions according to their results, impacts and the needs they aim to satisfy.

Exclusion criteria [from EAC B.1]

Exclusion criteria aim at verifying that applicants are not, at the time of the grant award procedure, in a situation where they cannot receive a grant, in accordance with the financial regulation applicable to the general budget of the European Community.
Executive Agency

Final beneficiary (end beneficiary)
[from valorisation glossary]
A final beneficiary is an individual or an organisation directly positively influenced by the project outcome. Not necessarily receiving a financial grant and even not directly involved in the project, the beneficiary may exploit project outcomes for its own purposes.

Final Report

Follow up activities
[from valorisation glossary]
In general the follow up activities take place when the project is finished in administrative terms. Their aim is to keep results alive and sustainable.

Good practice
[from valorisation glossary]
A good practice is an exemplary project (including results or processes) which has positively influenced systems and practices throughout its activities and results. Consequently, good practices are worth transferring and exploiting in different contexts and environments by new users or entities.

Green Paper
[from EU Glossary]
Green Papers are documents published by the European Commission to stimulate discussion on given topics at European level. They invite the relevant parties (bodies or individuals) to participate in a consultation process and debate on the basis of the proposals they put forward. Green Papers may give rise to legislative developments that are then outlined in White Papers.

Guidance & counselling
[from LLP decision]
A range of activities such as information, assessment, orientation and advice to assist learners, trainers and other staff to make choices relating to education and training programmes or employment opportunities.

Higher education institution
[from LLP decision]
- Any type of higher education institution, in accordance with national legislation or practice, which offers recognised degrees or other recognised tertiary level qualifications, whatever such establishments may be called in the Member States
- Any institution, in accordance with national legislation or practice, which offers vocational education or training at tertiary level

Impact
[from valorisation glossary]
Impact is the effect that the project and its results have on various systems and practices. A project with impact contributes to the objectives of programmes and to the development of different European Union policies.

Innovation
[from valorisation glossary]
Innovative results are those which represent some new and distinctive features, distinguishing them from others with similar characteristic, and adding value in relation to conventional solutions.

Interim Report

Joint masters
[from LLP decision]
Means master courses in higher education that:
- Involve a minimum of three higher education institutions from three different Member States
- Implement a study programme which involves a period of study in at least two of those three institutions
- Have built-in mechanisms for the recognition of periods of study undertaken in partner institutions based on, or compatible with, the European credit transfer system
- Result in the awarding of joint, double or multiple degree, recognised or accredited by the Member States, from the participating institutions

Lifelong learning
[from LLP decision]
All general education, vocational education and training, non-formal education and informal learning undertaken throughout life, resulting in an improvement in knowledge, skills and competences within a personal, civic, social and/or employment-related perspective. It includes the provision of counselling and guidance services.
Lisbon Strategy

from EU Glossary

During the meeting of the European Council in Lisbon (March 2000), the Heads of State or Government launched a "Lisbon Strategy" aimed at making the European Union (EU) the most competitive economy in the world and achieving full employment by 2010. This strategy, developed at subsequent meetings of the European Council, rests on three pillars:

- An economic pillar preparing the ground for the transition to a competitive, dynamic, knowledge-based economy. Emphasis is placed on the need to adapt constantly to changes in the information society and to boost research and development.

- A social pillar designed to modernise the European social model by investing in human resources and combating social exclusion. The Member States are expected to invest in education and training, and to conduct an active policy for employment, making it easier to move to a knowledge economy.

- An environmental pillar, which was added at the Göteborg European Council meeting in June 2001, draws attention to the fact that economic growth must be decoupled from the use of natural resources.

A list of targets has been drawn up with a view to attaining the goals set in 2000. Given that the policies in question fall almost exclusively within the sphere of competence of the Member States, an open method of coordination (OMC) entailing the development of national action plans has been introduced. Besides the broad economic policy guidelines, the Lisbon Strategy provides for the adaptation and strengthening of existing coordination mechanisms: the Luxembourg process for employment, the Cardiff process for the functioning of markets (goods, services and capital) and the Cologne process on macroeconomic dialogue.

The mid-term review held in 2005, for which a report was prepared under the guidance of Wim Kok, former Prime Minister of the Netherlands, showed that the indicators used in the OMC had caused the objectives to become muddled and that the results achieved had been unconvincing.

In order to give new impetus to the Lisbon Strategy, the Commission is proposing a simplified process of coordination in tandem with consultation on the measures to be taken under the national action plans.

This revised strategy is no longer based on all the targets set in 2000, and only the figure of 3 % of GDP for research and development is being retained. The integrated guidelines for growth and employment will henceforth be presented jointly with the guidelines for macroeconomic and microeconomic policies, over a three-year period.

Mainstreaming

from valorisation glossary

Mainstreaming is a process which enables activities to impact on policy and practice. This process includes identifying lessons, clarifying the innovative element and approach that produced the results, their dissemination, validation and transfer. More specifically, mainstreaming also defines the phase of transfer and the way in which other actors take account of the elaborated results, approaches and key elements.

Mobility

from LLP decision

Spending a period of time in another Member State, in order to undertake study, work experience, other learning or teaching activity or related administrative activity, supported as appropriate by preparatory or refresher courses in the host language or working language.

Multilateral

from LLP decision

Involving partners from at least three Member States. The Commission may regard associations or other bodies with membership from three Member States or more as multilateral.

Monitoring (at project level)

from valorisation glossary

The process involves continuous and systematic control of the project’s progress. The intention is to correct any deviation from the operational objectives and thus improve the performance. Every project should be monitored throughout its duration in order to ensure its success. Monitoring consists of supervision of activities, comparison with the work plan and using the information obtained for the improvement of the project. During the monitoring process dissemination and exploitation activities must be carefully checked, verified and, if necessary - reoriented and adapted.

Examples are the White Papers on Completion of the Internal Market (1985), on Growth, Competitiveness, Employment (1993) and on European Governance (2001).
