Translations

The screenshot shows a Microsoft Internet Explorer browser window displaying a web application. The address bar shows the URL: <https://www.cable.uhi.ac.uk/cases/TranslateCase>. The page header includes the 'cable' logo (Case Based e-Learning for Educators) and a European Union flag. A navigation menu contains 'Pagina principale', 'Caso di studio', 'Esci', and 'Connesso come: Kim Roos'. Below the menu are links for 'Aggiungi', 'Modifica', 'Cerca', 'Archivio', and 'Traduci'. The main content area is titled 'Traduzione del caso di studio'. It features a form with several fields: a 'Lingua:' field with radio buttons for German, Spanish, Italian, and Swedish, and a 'Lingua originale:' field with a radio button for English (UK flag). The 'Titolo:' field contains the text 'Putting children first'. The 'Narrazione:' field contains a 100-character text snippet: 'Parents divorced. In the family they had had a crisis two years earlier when their eldest son committed suicide on the confirmation day of their third youngest son. This family had five children, a boy, a girl and then three boys. The parents worked very differently with this big shock and grew very fast apart. They started hating each other very deeply. In this situation there were two minors, 6 and 8 years of age. The mother moved and the two minors moved with her to another municipality. The father stayed in their old home. The parents were fighting for custody over the two'. At the bottom of the form are buttons for 'Prossima pagina' and 'Reimposta'. The browser's status bar at the bottom shows the URL and an Internet icon.
